

Associated Press Votes to Curb Use of Its News Over Radio

Resolution Adopted at Annual Meeting to Forbid News Broadcasts of A. P. Over Radio Chains—Exception Made.

New York, April 25 (AP).—Members of the Associated Press, in annual meeting, adopted a resolution that no news distributed by the organization be given to radio chains. The resolution, adopted late yesterday, also provided that no member newspaper shall be permitted to broadcast either its own or Associated Press news other than brief bulletins. The directors were empowered to fix assessments to be paid by member papers who do such broadcasting. The resolution directed that this revenue be applied to a pro-rata reduction of assessments of non-broadcasting members. The members elected five directors. Two of them, George E. Longan of the Kansas City (Mo.) Star and L. K. Nicholson of the New Orleans (La.) Times-Picayune, are new directors. Three were re-elected: Col. Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago (Ill.) Tribune, W. H. Ochs of the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review, and E. Lansing Ray of the St. Louis (Mo.) Globe-Democrat. This forenoon at 10 o'clock the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association was to meet at the Waldorf Astoria to discuss news problems of mutual interest.

A. N. P. A. Meeting. Another important newspaper gathering gets under way this afternoon—the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. Publishers from all over the United States were to attend.

The Associated Press resolution concerning broadcasting was offered by James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner and president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association. He said his purpose in making it was to bring together representatives of a group of newspapers which had been asked to make a contribution to the Associated Press.

The resolution follows: "Be it resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that the board of directors shall not allow any news distributed by the Associated Press, regardless of source, to be given to any radio chain or chains; and be it further

"Resolved, that no member newspaper of the Associated Press shall be allowed to broadcast its local news or news furnished by the Associated Press, other than brief bulletins covering events of major local, national or international importance with credit to the Associated Press and the member newspaper, and then only over an individual radio station located at or near the place of publication of the member paper broadcasting; and be it further

Provide for Broadcasts "Be it resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that the board of directors shall promulgate at once rules and regulations covering the hours of such news bulletin broadcasts so as to distinguish between morning and evening members, fix a schedule of additional assessments to be applicable solely to those member papers which broadcast Associated Press news, the revenue from which shall be applied to a pro-rata reduction of assessments paid by non-broadcasting members; take such steps necessary to protect the news report of the Associated Press from pilfering or such other illegal use by radio news commentators or others; and define the meaning of 'brief bulletins' in conformity with the text and spirit of this resolution; and be it further

"Resolved, that all resolutions, heretofore adopted by the membership in conflict with this resolution, be and the same are hereby rescinded and declared null and void." Another resolution, offered by Adolph S. Ochs, of the New York Times; J. R. Knowland, of the Oakland (Cal.) Tribune, both directors, and President Noyes, read: "Resolved, that this meeting record the members' appreciation of the long and faithful service of Frank P. McCann of the Topeka (Kan.) State-Journal as an efficient director and loyal member. He earned the gratitude of his fellow directors who regret that because of ill health he felt the necessity of withdrawing his name for re-election."

The resolution was adopted.

PRINCE WILHELM TO BE MARRIED NEXT MONTH

Bonn, Germany, April 25 (AP).—Prince Wilhelm, 26-year-old son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, will be married in the middle of May to Dorothea, von Salviati, member of an aristocratic Italian family which resides in Germany. The plans for the marriage were published yesterday.

Cake Sale. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Jewish Community Center extends an invitation to all members and friends to attend the cake sale which will be held on Thursday afternoon, April 27. This delicious and attractive assortment of home-made cakes will be on sale on the lower floor.

School Card Party. A bridge and ginocle party will be held at No. 6 school on Friday evening, April 28, at 8:15. Tables will be reserved for all.

Britain To Make No Provision For War Debts Due the U. S.

London, April 25 (AP).—Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain announced in proceeding his budget to the House of Commons today that no provision will be made this year for war debt payments to the United States or for receipts from foreign debtors.

This is the same policy Britain followed in last year's budget. Special provision was necessary for the debt installment paid to the United States last December.

"The past year has been one of substantial financial achievement which was a necessary preliminary to the revival of activity," Mr. Chamberlain said.

Prohibition Chief Returns to City

T. W. Dreesen, agent in charge of the prohibition office at Kingston, has returned to the city after a two weeks' absence in Topeka, Kansas, where he was an important witness in the trial of the heads of three large Brooklyn concerns implicated in the manufacture of the concoction known as "ginger Jake," prominent in news headlines two or three years ago. The three were given a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary and on other counts were given suspended sentences of five years in Leavenworth. The presiding justice was Judge Richard Hopkins. A year ago one defendant in a similar case was given a sentence of five years and a fine of $20,000, and two others were given sentences of one year each.

These last convictions practically clean up the "Jake" cases as far as the New York office is concerned, and were the result of some nine months' hard work on the part of Mr. Dreesen and other agents who were assigned to the work. It is understood that the situation is entirely cleared up as regards cases which arose in Boston, which was also a center for the manufacture of the stuff.

"Ginger Jake," which was composed of 95 per cent alcohol, and much of it alcohol not free from denaturants, with about 4 per cent solids, was sold extensively through the west, particularly in the oil fields, in some places in the south and to some extent in northern New York. It was labeled as fluid extract of ginger, U. S. P. and its use resulted in thousands of cases of paralysis of varying degrees of intensity, in addition to a number of deaths. At this time there are what are known as "Jake farms" in Kansas and Oklahoma, where hundreds of victims of the fake ginger extract are receiving treatment. Some, with strong constitutions, or whose cases were not so severe, are on the road to recovery.

Dry Forces Rally in Two Day Conference

Syracuse, N. Y., April 25 (AP).—Dry forces from all over New York state opened their two day conference today to map their program with reference to the sale of beer and the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Approximately 1,600 dry workers were expected before the end of the day. Most of those here were affiliated with the Anti-Saloon League, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, or the Law Preservation Union, but the organizations were not recognized as such.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell was scheduled to deliver the keynote address today. He has just attended the northern New York conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church which voiced dissatisfaction "with the personnel and procedure of the state Anti-Saloon League."

Tennessee Valley Bill Passed by House

Washington, April 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt's program for developing the Tennessee river basin today was pushed through the House and sent to the Senate by a huge 306 to 91 majority.

Hunt For Redfern

Rochester, N. Y., April 25 (AP).—Police disclosed today they were hunting for Richard S. Redfern, uncle of Paul Redfern, the aviator who disappeared on a non-stop flight to Brazil in 1927. In connection with their investigation of a bridge suicide here, an unidentified man leaped from Veterans Memorial Bridge 300 feet into the Genesee river yesterday. Several hours later Redfern's automobile was found parked near the bridge and his family disclosed he had been absent all day. He had not returned early this morning.

Ashtabula M. E. Party

The get-together of members and friends of the Ashtabula M. E. Ladies Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Van Aken, Ashtabula Lake Club-house, Wednesday evening, April 26, starting at 7:30. There will be games, puzzles and refreshments. A silver offering will be taken. An invitation is extended to the public.

Chalmers L. Pancoast To Be Official Guest Of Kingston Knights

Eminent Grand Junior Warden of Grand Commandery of Knights Templar, States of New York, Guest at Official Reception.

Official invitations have been issued by Harry M. Barnhart, commander of Roundout Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar, to the reception of Chalmers L. Pancoast, eminent grand junior warden of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar, State of New York. This review and official inspection of Roundout Commandery will be held Wednesday evening, April 26, at 7:30 in the Masonic Hall, 280 Wall street.

The official visitor, Chalmers L. Pancoast, is also editor of The Templar Knight, a publication of statewide distribution, also organizer and past director of the News-Activities Bureau of the Grand Commandery.

Chalmers L. Pancoast is a past commander of Couer de Lion Commandery, No. 23, New York city, and a member of Kismet Temple and the Aurora Grata Consistory of Brooklyn.

Members of many commanderies of the Hudson valley, New York state and New Jersey will attend this annual official inspection of Roundout since it is the last official inspection of 1933 in this section of the jurisdiction of the Grand Commandery of the State of New York.

Many Grand Commandery officers and dignitaries will be present to honor the inspecting officer and to return the courtesy of Roundout Commandery officers who have been in attendance at inspection of other commanderies in the Hudson Valley district during the present Templar year.

During the year of 1930 Chalmers Pancoast was the founder, editor and publisher of Commandery Comment, official newspaper of the Council Officers' Association of the Knights Templar Commanderies in the Metropolitan district of New York.

He is the author of the only book of its kind, "The Modern Templar." Reviewers have said that it is a thoughtful compilation of gems of inspiring thought from the leaders in the modern order of Knights Templar.

Chalmers Pancoast is referred to as author, writer, historian and specialist in advertising and publicity. He is the author of books—"Trail Blazers of Advertising" and "The Cub, Tenderfoot Reporter"—also serials, "Death Trails of New Mexico," etc. He is a contributor to magazines and newspapers; general character of writing—historical, autobiographical, fiction, technical; pioneer journalist of the Southwest Territories of New Mexico and Arizona; historian of the Ohio Society of New York; special contributor to the Ohio Mason publishing serially his new book "The Pot of Gold" and "Knighthood Tales," also articles on "Masonic Historic Sites" and "Cities Made Famous by George Washington."

RAILROAD CRANE TIPPED OVER AT PORT EWEN; 2 MEN HURT

One of the steam cranes used in repair work on the West Shore railroad tipped over at Port Ewen on Monday afternoon, and Jay Coe, operator of the crane, and a carpenter named Fisher, were slightly injured. They were brought to Kingston and attended by Dr. John B. Krom. A wrecker from Kingston placed the crane back on the tracks. While the east bound track was tied up by the accident traffic was routed over the west bound track. The crane was being used in connection with some work on the culvert near the Port Ewen railroad station.

MISS MACDONALD WILL ATTEND LABOR HEARING

Washington, April 25 (AP).—A labor hearing on Capitol Hill, with testimony by Secretary Frances Perkins, was the high light of this final day of Isabel Mac Donald's visit in Washington.

Intensely interested in labor, Miss Mac Donald eagerly accepted the invitation to go with Mrs. Roosevelt to the Capitol where Miss Perkins was asked to appear as a witness before the house labor committee on the Black 30-hour work-week bill.

TWO FINED FOR TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS ON MONDAY

Officer Bowers made two arrests for traffic violations on Monday. Joseph Police of Saugerties was fined $2 in police court for using 1932 license plates on his truck, and Ralph Gakenheimer of 20 Hewitt Place was fined $2 for using wrong license plates on his car. The plates he was using had been issued for another car.

To Close Chicago Schools

Chicago, April 25 (AP).—Unwilling to force Chicago's teachers to continue working on unpaid basis, Orville J. Taylor, president of the board of education, said he would take steps today to close the schools within the next two or three weeks.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 25 (AP).—Treasury receipts for April 25 were $2,714,368.98; expenditures $14,621,327.42; balance $322,329,835.51. Customs duties for 22 days of April $12,698,451.52.

ECONOMIC SITUATION NOTED AT A GLANCE

(By the Associated Press.)

1. Former Premier Herriot of France, after conference with President Roosevelt, says enthusiastically that latter laid down complete program, including disarmament, world economic stabilization and war debts.

2. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, who announced that their conversations had "admirably served" the purpose of mapping the territory to be covered at the world economic conference, plan final talk late today.

3. President Roosevelt, in talks with Premier Bennett of Canada, is expected to seek pack for control of world wheat production.

4. Disarmament conference reopens at Geneva, buoyed by moral support afforded by economic conversations at Washington.

5. Opening date for world economic conference is expected to be set by organization committee which meets Saturday in London.

6. Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, leads Republican opposition to Roosevelt controlled inflation plan, but quick passage of measure is believed assured.

Trial to Start With Mooney in Prison

San Francisco, April 25 (AP).—Tom Mooney, serving a life sentence for complicity in the preparedness day parade bombing here in 1916, was reported impatient and disappointed when informed he may not be brought here from San Quentin prison today for his second trial, on an unused indictment more than 16 years ago.

A delay in Mooney's trip was indicated when Superior Judge Louis H. Ward ruled his presence would not be necessary for "preliminary arguments."

Judge Ward directed that a panel of 40 foremen, previously summoned for tomorrow, need not appear until Thursday. "I want to be present when preliminary arguments are made," Samuel Darcy, of the defense counsel, quoted the gray-haired convict as saying.

Unconfirmed reports were that indecision regarding the transfer of the prisoner to the county jail here was arranged as a safeguard against possible demonstrations and that his short trip across San Francisco Bay might be kept secret until after it was over.

Kallop Arrested For Violation Of Parole

Carl F. Kallop, 25, of 36 Washington avenue, was arrested Monday by Deputy Sheriff Fluckiger on a warrant issued April 13 by Judge J. C. Tracy of Columbia county, charging violation of parole. Judge Tracy presided at Ulster county court in January, 1931, when Kallop and two others were on trial. At that time the three were allowed to plead guilty to assault in the second degree. District Attorney Francis Murray and the mother of the complainant agreeing, Judge Tracy sentenced the young men to Elmira Reformatory and suspended sentence pending good behavior, placing him on probation.

Specifically Kallop's arrest at this time is the result of a recent affidavit at Saugerties as a result of which he was arraigned before Justice Charles H. Bennett of that village, who fined him $10 and gave him a suspended jail sentence.

He is being held at the Ulster county jail pending arraignment before County Judge Frederick G. Traver.

Ulster Agricultural Society Gets $3,044

Albany, April 25 (AP).—Fifty-seven checks for amounts totaling $3,772.36, were being written in the state comptroller's office today to reimburse county and town agricultural societies for the prizes they awarded at their fairs last year. The Ulster County Agricultural Society was one of the organizations to share in the disbursement, receiving $3,044.

This probably will be the last gift of that size to the fair associations until the state's financial condition improves. The last legislature, sponsored by Governor Lehman's economy demands, took steps toward reducing the allowance to state aid for fairs to $250,000.

WISCONSIN SECOND STATE TO VOTE REPEAL

Madison, Wis., April 25.—Wisconsin's constitutional convention today cast a unanimous vote to ratify repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Preceded by Michigan, Wisconsin was the second state of the union to vote for the repeal of Federal prohibition.

Three Fires Here Monday

The fire department was called out Monday afternoon for a grass fire on Bruyn avenue; a fire in the Sterling street dump and a grass fire on Tammany street.

Twelfth Juror in Murder Trial Not Selected at Noon

Court Recesses With But Nine Jurors. Remanding of the Extra Panel of 30 and the Last Seat in the Jury Box Still Unfilled.

A fourth extra panel of jurors was present this morning in county court, where for over a week the selection of a jury has been going on to hear the Baessler-Connor murder case. The panel this morning was thirty men. When court recessed at noon but nine of the panel remained to be examined and the twelfth chair in the jury box was still empty.

Baessler and Connor are charged with murder, first degree, for the killing of Irish Quick, aged Liebhardt farmer.

Matthew Sahler of Mombaccus was the first man examined this morning. Although he resided in the neighborhood where the murder was committed he did not know the defendants who are charged with the crime. Once he saw Baessler on the street and someone told him it was Baessler. That was two years ago. Mr. Sahler said he was collector of the town and he had met Irish Quick once or twice when he came to pay his tax. This acquaintance would not affect his verdict. He said he had read little of the case and had formed no opinion. Mr. Quick lived about 5 miles from his place.

Asked if the indictment made any impression as to guilt on his mind, the witness said "there must be something behind it." Asked if in the event after the evidence was in there was a doubt in his mind as to the guilt or innocence of the defendants if he would give the benefit of the doubt to the defendants he replied that was "pretty hard to say." He concluded by stating that the defendants would have to bring in evidence of innocence. Such evidence he said would have to be "pretty strong."

He said he would expect the defendants to take the witness stand. He was challenged for cause by defendants. On further examination by the district attorney the juror said he could not take his instructions as to the law from the court. Asked if in the event the judge charged him that it was not necessary for the defendants to take the stand the juror replied, "that is not the law." The challenge was sustained.

Excused By Defense.

Charles P. Hommel, who resided near Palenville, had read or heard nothing of the case and knew none of the parties. He said he presumed the defendants to be innocent now and until such time as they were proven guilty. Other answers were given in an equally intelligent manner. He was acceptable to The People but the defense excused the juror, exercising another peremptory challenge.

William Van Kleek, who resides near New Paltz, did not know the defendants but had seen Lloyd R. Lelever, counsel for defendant, "in Rosendale. He said he would not care to sit on a case where a verdict of guilty would invoke the death penalty. He was asked if he approved of the death penalty and said, "I have no craving for it." He thought he would require stronger proof in a first degree murder case where the death penalty was involved than in other cases. Challenged for cause by The People. Sustained.

Warner B. Osterhout of Kripplush was over 70 and excused.

Henry Bennett of Ellenville knew both Mr. Lelever and Mr. Murray but did not know the defendants. Asked if he had read of the case he said he had and that he had formed an opinion of "guilty" at the time. His mind was open now he said and he had no present opinion. He did not know Mr. Quick. He answered the question both ways as to whether he approved of the death penalty and was challenged by The People. Sustained.

Ezra Silkworth of Olive Bridge said he was an assessor of the town of Olive. He had read and heard the case talked of. He knew none of the parties and had formed no opinion. He was uncertain as to whether he approved or disapproved of the death penalty saying it was a hard thing to say. Challenged by The People and sustained.

James Acker, stage operator, of the town of Ulster, said he was opposed to the death penalty. Challenged by The People and sustained.

Edgar Halwick of the town of Ulster, Lake Katrine, was not opposed to the death penalty. He did not know the defendants but knew Mr. Lelever and Mr. Lounsbury by sight and had sat on juries where Mr. Halwick had appeared in Judge Webber's court. It was his opinion that the defendants should prove themselves innocent. Challenged by defendants. Sustained.

At 12:30 o'clock court recessed until 2 o'clock with but nine jurors remaining of the extra panel and the last seat in the jury box still unfilled.

Charged With Assault

George Krieschner of Sawkill was arrested and brought to the Ulster county jail Monday, charged by his stepson, Charles Lovgren, with assault in the third degree. He was arraigned before Justice Walter Webber, who released him under $25 bail, pending a hearing May 2. Lovgren alleged in his complaint that his stepfather struck him about the face and head, twisted his arm and knocked him down on to the barn floor.

U. S. May Consult With Other Nations When War Threatens

Conferences Between Roosevelt and Foreign Statesmen Develop Possibility the United States May Agree to Consult With Fellow-Signatories of Paris Peace Pact Should Threats of War Make Such Action Necessary—Armaments Get Attention.

Washington, April 25 (AP).—The possibility of American agreement to consult with fellow signatories on the Paris peace pact in event of a threat of war increased today in the light of developments centering in the conferences between President Roosevelt and foreign statesmen.

Through another day of serious discussion on international economics and armaments, the President, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and former Premier Herriot of France worked toward assuring success for the London conference aimed to rehabilitate world trade and the moves already under way for armament reduction.

Following a visit to the White House, where Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. MacDonald had been together, Secretary Hull pointed out in a press conference that the platforms of both political parties declared in principle in favor of such consultative provision to strengthen the Kellogg-Brundage pact. He had been asked especially about the chances for this country joining in such an agreement.

The projected American adherence to a consultative agreement appeared to have a distinct bearing on the deadlocked efforts for reduction and limitation of land, sea and air armaments in the conference which reopened today at Geneva.

Judging from the advisors called into the White House Anglo-American meeting, armaments and related problems were among the uppermost there.

At the state department, meanwhile, French experts allied with M. Herriot participated in their first extended exchange of views preparatory to their leader conferring with the President later in the day.

Secretary Hull refrained from detailed comment, explaining that he was devoting himself almost exclusively to the economic phases of the conversations and in leading armaments to President Roosevelt.

Progress has been prevented in part at Geneva by French insistence upon guarantees of security against attack in return for any reduction in their armed forces.

This demand has been reemphasized with the rise of Hitler's strongly nationalistic party to power in Germany with accompanying French fears that her old enemy would re-arm.

The task, as officials here see it, is to quiet these fears as an essential preliminary to the actual reduction of armaments. The present discussions between Mr. Roosevelt and M. Herriot, as well as Mr. MacDonald, are looked to for definite indication of whether American agreement to a consultative pact would fill the French security demand.

Just such a consultative proposal has been made by MacDonald in his recent disarmament plan to which the Geneva Conference devoted its attention today.

Germany Eliminates Jews from Boxing Family Identifies Body of Kearney

Berlin, April 25 (AP).—A new climax in the complete ostracism of Jewish athletes from organized German sports life has been reached by the Verband Deutscher Faustkämpfer, the union of German professional boxers.

The organization issued ten regulations designed to eliminate Jews from the athletic industry, thereby joining the movement that resulted in the dropping of Daniel Prenn from the Davis cup tennis team, forced the resignation of Theodor Lewald, chairman of the German athletic federation, and to a lesser degree has resulted in bans on all foreign competitors. Lewald, the "William Muldoon" of German sports, is part Jewish but the family has been Jewish for more than 100 years.

TWO CARS CRASHED AT BUSY CORNER BUT NO ONE INJURED

Late Monday afternoon a Star sedan driven by Mendel Crum of 146 Stephan street and a Ford coupe driven by William R. McGuire of Albany avenue extension, collided at Broadway and Albany avenue. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured in the crash.

KINGSTON FOLKS HEARD MCCORMACK MONDAY NIGHT

Many Kingston residents motored to Newburgh Monday evening to hear John McCormack, famous tenor, who gave a concert there that evening.

Girl Ran Into Car. Harold McKenzie of Port Ewen reported to the police department Monday that a little girl, Patsy Outton, daughter of Frank Outton of 20 Broadway, had run into the side of his car. He reported that the girl was apparently uninjured and had continued on her way to school.

Fell From a Window. Mrs. Joseph Caspar, mother-in-law of Adam Gage of Congamont, fell from a second story window Saturday and landed on her head. She was shaking a rug out of the window when she lost her balance and fell. Dr. R. F. Dierling of Saugerties found she had no broken bones. She complained of a wrenched back.

LOWER WAISTLINE, HIGHER HAT CROWN

Designers Display Their Ideas
for Spring.

A sex and unarmored silhouette, designed to leave the modern woman "free in her clothes" was displayed by fashion in his gals spring show.

The designer, who recently launched a war on the high waistline, showed a silhouette with a semi-low waistline just above the hip bones, easily fitting bodices, and skirts that discarded closely modeled lines.

His hats with crowns sometimes four inches high in back and lower in front, shattered the old decree of low crowns.

Flat wools, laces, silk crepes, bright plaids, and striped taffetas were widely used for blouses and scarfs.

Costs of the silhouette design did not have closely-fitted waists, but had skirts gradually widening to the hem. They generally contrasted with the color of the frock; as, for example, a green wool coat with a black crepe frock.

VEILS AND FLOWERS

By CHERRY NICHOLAS

Have you noticed that the clever little veil worn with the hat pictured above is matched with a perky bow of the same stiff lacquered mesh posed on the shoulder? These charming veil and bow sets are the latest thing out. The veils have the little bow already tied and all you have to do is to fasten it on, quick as a flash. It is possible to secure these dainty veil accessories at most any veiling counter or millinery shop or department.

It adds to the charm of the new spring hats that so many of them are trimmed with gay little flowers, for the most part in flat effects. The toque crowned with a carpet of flattened posies is very new and delightfully spring-like. A band of flat flowers about the crown, as shown in the model below in the illustration, is a favorite theme. A crocheted effect in black straw forms the crown of this hat. The brim is of soft milan and the garniture of flowers is in green, rose and red. Tiny velvet posies make the crown of the hat worn with a veil. Conventional arrangements of wee velvet flowers are of importance for spring.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Sleeves are a high point of design. Sailor hats are important with suits.

Dust ruffles add swish to evening dresses. Dark suits with light blouses are made a feature.

The rustle of taffeta is heard more and more insistently. Dresses of tucked or shirred chiffon are smart for afternoon.

No Paris designer seems to be willing to omit at least a touch of velvet.

Knee-length finely pleated flounces give neckline fullness to narrow-skirted skirts.

New Spring Recipe for Chic Is Tailored Suit

The new spring recipe for smartness is a tailored suit with a shortish jacket, a skirt whose hem allows for plenty of freedom of movement, and a blouse of some contrasting color—preferably darker than the suit.

There are many practical angles to this new fashion. In the first place the cut of the suit is so simple that it requires some sturdy material—a feature which provides against easy wrinkling, and which furnishes sufficient warmth for all but the coldest days.

Fabric Flowers

A black taffeta evening gown for spring parties has one short sleeve banded with orange velvet blossoms and a pale green crepe frock has a carmine of flowers of the same fabric trailing from left shoulder to right waist.

Dramatic Club Meeting

A meeting of the Dramatic Group of the Young People's League of the Jewish Community Center will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. A play will be selected for production during the spring festival to be held in the near future. Those desiring to take part are cordially invited to attend.

FLOWER GIRL

By CHERRY NICHOLAS

This dainty little frock is an unusually pretty style for the flower girl who expects to play an important role in a spring wedding. It can easily be made at home at little expense of organdie, silk mousseline, chiffon or flat crepe. The arrangement of the pleating is very effective and quite along entirely new lines. In Paris everything that can be finely knife-pleated is pleated, in the styling of fashions for grown-ups as well as for children.

Vivid Crepes

Crepes are the favorite evening fabric of the moment. Splashing the palette of black, brown, red and white, which has been seen all winter, are new and vivid tones such as cyclamen mauve, cyclamen pink, canary yellow and water green.

Mother's Cook BookSEASONABLE FOODS

MINT enhances the deliciousness of lamb, which is one of our early summer meats. After roasting the leg of lamb, crown roast, or stuffed breast, serve it surrounded with individual molds of mint jelly, garnish the top of the roast with cross or parsley. Mold the jelly in halves of lemon, then cut, with the lemon peel left on if desired, into eights or quarters.

Mint Jelly

Take one-half cupful of vinegar, one cupful of water and add enough green coloring to make of the desired shade; add three and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar, one-half to one and one-half teaspoonfuls of spearmint extract and one-half cupful of pectin. Bring all to a boil except the pectin; add the pectin and the flavoring; let stand a minute removed from the heat, skim and pour into jelly glasses or molds. Cover with paraffin if to be kept any length of time. If lemon is used instead of vinegar use one and one-half cupfuls of water and the strained juice of two lemons. This makes five glasses of jelly.

Apricot Roll

Take one cupful of apricot jam, spread over the following roll: Sift two cupfuls of flour with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt and mix in two tablespoonfuls of butter. When well blended add one beaten egg and two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Mix and roll out, spread with softened butter and cover with the jam. Roll up and press gently to flatten. Place in a greased pan, brush with milk and bake in a quick oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Serve hot with:

Simple Salad

Chop rather coarsely a small cabbage to two cupfuls of cabbage and one coarsely chopped green pepper, one onion, and a half-cupful of celery. Mix all well, add enough mayonnaise to moisten, and serve on heart leaves of lettuce.

Naming the Chow

If you have a dog of Chinese breed such as the chow, pug or pekingese, of course you want your pet to have a Chinese name. Following are a few suggestions offered by the Dog World, with their English translations: Aye Shing—loving heart; Chu-Jen—the master; Chin-Pao—golden treasure; Fwo-Kin—part-color dog; Ho Yan—a doe fellow; Kum-Sum—golden hearted; Kwai-Chu—foreign jewel; Kwai-Wah—little lady; Shob-Dee—little brother; Shih Bah—snow white; Shia-Kin—little dog; Tu-Sheng Tzu—only child; Tay Tsang—sunshine, and Yan-Dan—friend of man.—Detroit News.

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, April 25.—Consistory meeting will be held at the church Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The Ellsworth family and Mrs. Otto Ruge motored to Elmford and returned Sunday.

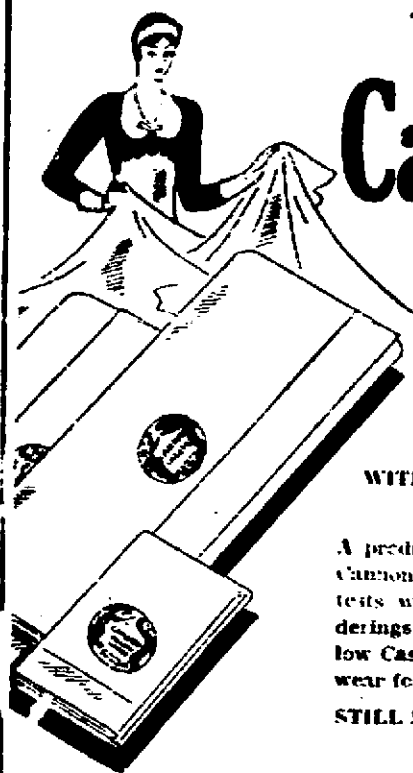

House cleaning and garden making seem to be the orders of the day. Mrs. Elizabeth Carver was the week-end guest of her sister, Serena DeGraff. Mrs. Carver recently returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., where she spent the winter.

The fire company was called on Monday to fight a brush fire at the Kelley place. Later they were again called to S. Barnett's, their chimney being on fire.

Sunday service April 29 will be as follows: Sunday school 1:20; preaching by the pastor, the Rev. Philip Goertz, 2:30 p. m.; daylight saving time.

The White Cockatoo

by Mignon G. Eberhart

Chapter 20
DANGER FOR LORN

WHAT have you told the hotel people?

"Only that I was waiting for my brother to come," she answered.

"I know it seems unusual—that I should tell them nothing and you—so much," she said. "But you—you are—"

"She stopped as if seeking words, and I said:

"It shows that you must have had some faint distrust of them. You haven't wanted to admit it, perhaps, but it's there."

"No, no," she said. "The Lovschisms are my friends."

"You haven't given this—taken—into the Lovschisms' care?"

"Oh, no. They know nothing about it at all. I will show it to no one until I see my brother Francis and match his own with it. He must be convinced."

"And that abduction last night. I don't like dragging up the subject, but it's a very serious matter."

"I know," she said. "It frightened me awfully. It frightens me to think of it now. You need not tell me it is serious."

"She paused and looked at me meditatively, her slim fingers across one black velvet knee. "I wonder what you thought of me last night. You must have thought I was quite mad."

"Do you want to know what I thought?" I said slowly. "I thought you were very sweet."

"I had spoken gravely, and she had listened as gravely. For an instant the air between us was alive and trembling and aware, and our glances clung together. Then there was a knock on the door."

"It was Lorn, of course. He was unexcited, matter-of-fact; he entered, gave one look at Sue, said, "Good-evening," and took the chair I offered."

"I've been telling Mr. Sundeen why I fear that my affairs have had some connection with the murder last night," Sue told him thoughtfully. "I felt it only fair to do so, since he was unfortunate enough to become rather involved in the affair. I'm sorry to go against my brother's wishes in the matter, but I felt obliged to do so in this case."

Lorn made an inexpressive gesture.

"Your brother merely expressed his wishes, as I understand it. Miss Tally, I don't know that you are obliged to comply with them."

"I prefer to do so," she said rather stiffly.

Lorn went on more pleasantly: "Well, at any rate, we managed to get Mr. Sundeen out of jail."

"What about the poison, Lorn?" I asked.

"Poison!" cried Sue.

"The man there in the corridor last night actually died of poison," said Lorn.

"But," I interrupted, "how on earth was the man poisoned? And if poisoned why was he also stabbed?"

"THEY are having the traces analyzed," Lorn said precisely. "I don't know just what kind of poison it was—not definitely, that is. But the point is that he wasn't shot at all. And as to the little clock sword—Lorn's curiously hazy gaze seemed to be fastened on the clock—they are inclined to think that death had actually occurred before the clock sword was driven into his heart."

Sue cried out something, and Lorn continued dryly: "They are rather uncertain about the poison and how it could have been administered—the man might even have been a suicide, you know. It will take some time to prove all this, and some expert opinion. Which is why you were released for the time being, Mr. Sundeen."

"I did not like his expression 'for the time being.' But since he'd done me a very good turn indeed, I ignored it and said:

"Curious that you should have hit upon the method but not the means."

"Well," he said with an undue effect of modesty, "it struck me that the little clock sword was an odd weapon to use. It argued an amount of impulse in the matter that was out of the ordinary. But I didn't expect it to be poison."

"Poison—that implies deliberation, doesn't it?" said Sue.

"A certain preparedness, at least."

Phoenicia, April 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Loomis entertained Mrs. Haren and son, William, of Sparrow-bush, N. Y., over the week-end.

Miss Harriet Loomis has been assisting at the Chichester postoffice during the week.

The Walton property, at the head of Main street, is being painted. A. Warren and W. Dutcher are doing the work.

Mrs. Charles Ford, Mrs. Lester Bell, Jr., and Mrs. Clayton Myers of Albany were callers on High street.

Lorin Boice, of Kingston, who has been spending a few days with his father, H. Boice, has returned home.

Mrs. A. P. Loomis visited Mrs. Gordon Yerry at their home in Fox Hollow.

Edwin Ford caught a dandy string of fish. He is an adept hunter and fisherman like his father, Charles Ford.

Hilson Soules of Prattville is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hilson.

Gerald Gormley of Kingston was a caller in the place Saturday evening.

Mrs. Harry Brethaupt and daughter, Miss Edna, were callers on Mrs. Adrian Loomis.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, the M. E. pastor, is well liked.

Mrs. Charles Herdman visited Mrs. E. Neice, Mrs. Herdman and Mrs. Neice are staunch workers in the M. E. Ladies' Aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Alsop Lane and family were callers in the place Friday evening.

The line fence between Conerty and Schwarzwelder properties is well built. Frank Schwarzwelder did the work.

Development of metal-connected glass electrodes by bureau of standard and scientists is expected to save considerable money, as much water has resulted in industry from the breakage of plain glass ones.

THE TROUSER PAD FOR WOMEN IS NOT NEW—THEY HAVE BEEN WORN IN ALBANIA FOR GENERATIONS. 360 SQUARE FEET OF MATERIAL IS USED FOR EACH PAIR.

Paris, New York, Hollywood all may claim credit for setting styles for women, and for popularizing certain types of dress—but whatever claims and counter-claims are made for the fad of wearing mannish clothes by women, remote Albanian women can assert themselves as among the leaders of western women in the wearing of trousers.

For generations Albanian women have worn trousers, but unlike the trousers worn by their sisters farther west, the Albanian women use enough material in a single pair of trousers to make a whole wardrobe for the ordinary woman. One such garment may contain 360 square feet of material. By careful folding and pleating the Albanian woman's trousers, however, appear to be more or less compact. Pulled out on either side to their limits they may stretch 25 or 30 feet across.

Albanian men wear skirts.

Strange as it seems, the better a substance conducts heat the colder it feels at ordinary room temperature.

Try it with, for instance, wood and steel. A wood-handled steel knife for the ordinary woman. One such garment may contain 360 square feet of material. By careful folding and pleating the Albanian woman's trousers, however, appear to be more or less compact. Pulled out on either side to their limits they may stretch 25 or 30 feet across.

Paris, New York, Hollywood all may claim credit for setting styles for women, and for popularizing certain types of dress—but whatever claims and counter-claims are made for the fad of wearing mannish clothes by women, remote Albanian women can assert themselves as among the leaders of western women in the wearing of trousers.

For generations Albanian women have worn trousers, but unlike the trousers worn by their sisters farther west, the Albanian women use enough material in a single pair of trousers to make a whole wardrobe for the ordinary woman. THE NORGE ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

The part you never see is the best part of the NORGE

When you look at a Norge Electric Refrigerator you can see the beautiful design and lasting finish of its cabinet.

You can see and appreciate the convenient height and arrangement of the shelves...the spring hinged door that seals the freezing compartment...the "Water-voir," the convenient water cooler that's always handy but never in the way...the freezing control and defrosting switch, placed right where easiest to use.

But you might have a Norge for years and hardly realize it has a mechanism at all—except for the perfect refrigeration it gives you. Only Norge has the Rollator—simple, compact, powerful, almost everlasting...the kind of mechanism you can forget from one year's end to the next.

When you are ready to select your electric refrigerator, see the Norge before you buy.

The Norge is manufactured by Norge Corporation, Minneapolis, a Division of General Electric, one of the world's largest makers of refrigerators, parts, including freezers.

"The Norge is now everywhere, available for all models or mod. sizes prices."

Closing Twentieth Century Meeting

The closing 1932-33 meeting of the Twentieth Century Club was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Monday afternoon and was a most enjoyable affair. The program committee, Mrs. Smith, chairman, had prepared for a luncheon with which to close the season, and this luncheon was thoroughly enjoyed by the 20 members present. A program of fun and humor had also been prepared by the program committee and included a monologue by Mrs. Fraser, "Her First Club Meeting." Miss Ingalls gave a reading, "In the Country." Irving Cobbe's "Custom as I Am" was read by Mrs. Van Ingen and Mrs. Fuller gave a humorous reading, "Spring is Here." This part of the program closed with several clever anecdotes pertaining to the eternal feminine and spring. At the business session arrangements were made for the annual club picnic which will be held June 21 at the summer home of Mrs. Smith in Allgerville. Mrs. Fraser gave a report of the recent Federation executive committee. Annual committee and official reports were given. Mrs. Boerker, the retiring president, was presented with flowers and expressions of appreciation of her services as presiding officer of the club. Officers for next year were chosen as follows: President, Mrs. Fraser; vice president, Mrs. Fuller; secretary, Mrs. Allen; treasurer, Mrs. Van Ingen. One new member was received into the club, Miss Elsie Bernard. The afternoon closed with the reading of the program of next year's study, which will be on "Music and Drama."

Jelly Bear's Return

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

They all rushed to the door of Willy Nilly's shop, and there stood Jelly Bear. He smiled—the most beautiful smile—and he looked so happy and so glad to see them that they forgot all the worry they had been caused.

"You're safe, safe!" cried Willy Nilly.

"How-wow-wow, I'm glad to see you!" barked Rip, and he jumped up and down and wagged his tail happily.

"Quack, quack," quacked all the Ducks, "we thought our feathers would fall off from shaking with fear."

"Oh, Jelly Bear, I'll never scold you again for sleeping in the daytime," said Top Notch.

"Why, what does all this mean?" softly growled Jelly Bear.

"We have been searching everywhere for you," said Willy Nilly.

"We did not know what had happened to you."

"Oh, oh," said Jelly Bear, "I am so sorry! I didn't think you'd worry! I thought you'd know that I was safe because I am so much at home in the woods, and we black bears can look after ourselves so well."

"Dear me, dear Bear me, I wouldn't have caused you worry for anything."

"You didn't have any trouble?" asked Willy Nilly.

"Oh no, nothing but the best happened while I was away. I fell—"

But Jelly Bear was not given a chance to finish his sentence.

"Did you hurt yourself when you fell?" they all exclaimed.

"Please let me finish," begged Jelly Bear, "I'm trying to tell you that I fell in love, and SHE is outside waiting to meet every one of you."

Talks to parents

Mother's Conduct

By ALICE JUDSON PEALE

Parents want their children to be polite, helpful, self-controlled and truthful—to mention only a few of the things. And often when one has watched parents not aware that they are being watched, one wonders where on earth children are to learn these things.

Surely a child cannot learn politeness from a mother who gives curt commands, interrupts him no matter how busy he is, and omits generally in her talk with him all the polite "please" and "thank you" she so assiduously makes him practice on the woman visitor.

Surely he gets no example of helpfulness from a mother who buttons his clothes with every sign of ungracious impatience and who is always much too busy to lend a helping hand at anything really important like putting a wheel back on his express wagon or showing him how to make the new top spin.

And in the matter of self control—how is a child to learn it from a mother who furiously snatches things out of his hands, loses her patience with servants and tradesmen and explodes in a tirade just because she happens to be tired.

Truthfulness? A knotty problem to the child who hears his mother tell more or less polite fables over the telephone, who knows through his own experience that her promises mean nothing and who has caught her in downright lies when he has soberly asked for the truth.

Even those of us who are better than average mothers would probably be better still if we graded ourselves at the end of each day for some of those virtues that we are trying to inculcate in our children.

GIRL SCOUTS

ULSTER COUNTY COUNCIL

MRS. G. W. ROSS, Commissioner

MISS MILDRED M. EATON, Director

The Ulster County Girl Scout Leader's Association met at Girl Scout headquarters on Saturday afternoon. After the business session there was a review of the First Class Test. For the benefit of all the Girl Scouts in Kingston who are working on their First Class Badge, the leaders decided to have a special class at Girl Scout headquarters, 5 Field Court, on Monday, May 1, at 3:30, when First Class map making and the use of a poncho with a bed roll, and as a shelter tent, will be demonstrated.

There were few regular Girl Scout Troop meetings during the Easter holidays. Many troops had planned hikes, but the continued rain interfered with outdoor activities. The sick and the shut-in were remembered with Easter gifts made by the girls in various troops, and Easter baskets were given to those in need.

Troop 7, Kingston—When the girls had arrived at our meeting on Tuesday, Edna Abbott, our treasurer, collected the dues and the patrol leaders, Ethel Stork and Harriet Rice, Tancredi.

Poughkeepsie spent Sunday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Barry.

MUSIC WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED IN KINGSTON

As usual, Music Week, beginning Sunday, May 7, will be properly observed in Kingston, opening with an especially fine, free concert at the High School auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Paul Zucca, chairman of the committee having the concert in charge, is ready to announce part of the program which promises a treat for the music-minded for the afternoon. The Kingston Symphony Orchestra will give half of the concert and is preparing a particularly pleasing program of orchestral music. There will be selections by the Schubert Choral Club, and by a group of six young people, voice students of Miss Schmidtkopf. The remainder of the program will be announced shortly and will be equal in every way to the numbers already announced. Music lovers of Kingston are asked to keep the date in mind.

Another Panel Of 30 Jurors Exhausted As 12th Man Is Sought

Thirty more jurors appeared Monday afternoon in county court and from the extra panel summoned it was hoped the last man could be selected to fill the last in the murder case on trial but the panel was exhausted before court adjourned and the last chair was still vacant. This morning another extra panel of 30 jurors will be present. This third extra panel will make 122 men summoned at this time of county court for jury duty. A number have been excused on presenting legal excuses and a number of others were excused when it appeared that the men summoned might not be the men who responded. This was due to errors in spelling names. Frequently when the assessors certify names to the county clerk for jury duty the names are incorrectly spelled and the names must go on the jury roll as they come from the towns. When the men appear they correct the spelling of their names but in the present murder trial these men are being excused for "lack of identity."

The number of jurors who have actually been examined thus far by counsel in the Baessler-Connor case is 122. Out of the 122 men eleven have been found satisfactory.

Just before adjourning court Monday afternoon Judge Traver directed the 11 men in the jury box taken from the court room and he then proceeded to inform counsel in the case that more speed would have to be shown in selecting the last juror. Judge Traver told counsel that he had been very lenient and had not hastened the examination of jurors but that he himself had had considerable experience in selecting juries in criminal matters and from his observations it appeared as though both sides had excused or challenged jurors who might have served as very satisfactory jurors in the present case. Judge Traver directed that 30 extra jurors be drawn to appear in court at 11 o'clock this morning or as soon thereafter as they might be summoned and in the event that the jurors did not come in fast enough to keep the court busy he said he would direct the sheriff to summon takers to be examined and fill in so that the court could be kept busy.

The selection of a jury in the present case the court said had gone on very slow with numerous apparently good men allowed to go he urged counsel to speed up the case, although he stated that he would not interfere with the selection of a jury satisfactory to both sides.

Samuel P. O'Neill, Napamook carpenter, was the first man of the extra panel called. Mr. O'Neill knew Mr. Lounsbury and also had known Anton Baessler at the time Baessler resided on the Hillside road before going to Kerhonkson. He was slightly acquainted with Connor and had been at the Baessler restaurant about a year and a half ago. It was his opinion that he could sit as a fair juror in spite of this acquaintance. He had not known Uriah Quick during his lifetime. Although he had read of the case he had formed no opinion and said he approved of the death penalty in a proper case. District Attorney Murray had done business for the juror. His acquaintance with Mr. Murray ran back 10 or 15 years. He had known Coroner Humiston over 40 years but this would not interfere with a fair verdict. Other questions put to him he answered satisfactorily and said he presumed the defendants to be innocent until proven guilty and the indictment was no evidence of guilt.

Mr. Murray excused the juror on account of his acquaintance. He has previously excused a brother, George, on the same grounds. George Wood of Highland had also read of the case but formed no opinion. He answered many questions in a satisfactory manner but said that in the event after the evidence was in and the evidence was apparently even that he would give the verdict to "neither side." He explained that he would like the defendants to explain their innocence. Challenged by defendant for cause.

George Branigan of New Paltz, formerly a member of the New York city fire department, retired, knew no one connected with the case. He had read of the case but had no opinion. He approved of the death penalty and said the law should take its course. Asked if he would bring in a verdict of guilty, knowing that the penalty would be death, the witness hesitated and then said that would not influence his verdict. He explained that he would want more convincing evidence in a first degree case because lives were in the balance. He said if convinced of the guilt he would find a verdict of guilty. The People challenged for cause and the juror was excused by consent.

John Mochler of Ellenville thought the death penalty was wrong and was challenged and excused. Anthony H. Lawatsch of Kingston, excused on account of age. He said he was 77 years old.

Thomas Newkirk of Hurley said he knew Roger H. Loughran and Lloyd R. LeFever. He did not know the defendants and believed in the death penalty. He was excused on account of his relation of Charles Newkirk, a court officer. Peter Ooms of Ellenville was excused by consent.

John Stuber of Roundville did not approve of the death penalty and was challenged for cause.

Frank Tyler of Allaben said he had served on a grand jury a year ago. He had not read of the case but had heard his wife mention it. He was not acquainted with the defendants or their counsel and had no opinion in the matter. He only public office service was school trustee and school tax collector. There was no acquaintance in Kerhonkson. In his opinion he thought the defendants should prove their innocence. He was challenged for cause by defense. On further examination the law was asked whether it was not his opinion that an indictment was

Sick and Discouraged Results

Charles Thielman of Whiteport said Lloyd R. LeFever had done work for him about six years ago but that acquaintance would not affect a verdict in this case. Thielman said as a boy he knew Uriah Quick. His father had done business with Quick. On account of that acquaintance Thielman said frankly that he would not care to sit on the jury. Excused by consent.

Raymond DeVoe of Ellenville came near measuring up to the high standards required by both sides. A former Presidential agent he is now working at a gas station. He knew Lounsbury and Murray and two of the jurors on the panel. He said he had not read of the case but had heard it discussed and formed no opinion. He had no acquaintance in Kerhonkson but saw Baessler in Rose's store in Ellenville about six months ago. At that time he was introduced to Baessler and they talked for half or three quarters of an hour but that meeting would not interfere with a proper verdict. He never knew Quick. Mr. DeVoe said he knew the Troopers connected with the case and also Coroner Humiston. Satisfactory to The People. After a long consultation Mr. DeVoe was excused peremptorily by defense due to his acquaintanceship with Sergeant Hopkins, Trooper Riley and others.

George Sallie of Saxton knew none of the parties, had not read of the case and had no opinion. He said some time ago he had some business with the district attorney's office while Judge Traver was district attorney. That was six or seven years ago. He said he expected the defendants to provide some evidence of innocence before he could say not guilty. Challenged by defendant and consented to by district attorney.

Charles W. Henderson, summoned as C. W. Henderson, was excused by consent.

Clayton Burger of West Shokan was the next man to nearly measure up to the standard desired. He knew counsel by sight but did not know Baessler or Connor and had no acquaintance with Uriah Quick. He said he had some acquaintances in Kerhonkson and had read of the case but formed no opinion and had now forgotten what he had read, even the names. Mr. Burger said he had never been in the Baessler restaurant. At the time he read the story in the paper he might have formed an opinion but if he had he could not recall it now. He said he could not recall the defendant's name or if he had ever talked the case over at the time he read of it. He was satisfactory to The People. After considerable discussion the juror was excused peremptorily by defense.

Henry Miller or Mueller was excused as there was some question as to identity between the man summoned and the man who appeared.

Tracy Atkins of Clintonville said he would require stronger evidence in this case than in an ordinary case due to the fact that the death penalty was involved. He was challenged by The People. Sustained. Windfall Snyder of High Woods, a stone cutter by trade, came close to the required standard of a juror. The fact that his brother was juror number three and that he had acted some years ago in a criminal case as a juror in county court resulted in his dismissal by the defendant. Mr. Snyder said he knew none of the people and had no opinion. Several years ago he was on a criminal case, he thought a manslaughter case, but he could not recall the verdict or the facts of the case. It was a matter of someone being stabbed and it might have been in the neighborhood of New Paltz. Asked if he knew any of the 11 men elected he said one, Mr. Snyder. Asked if his relations were friendly, he said, "they should be." He was asked if they were related and he said, "he is my brother." Satisfactory to The People but excused by the defendants.

Charles Meyer was the last man of the panel and since District Attorney Murray now has a case pending for Mr. Merrifew he was excused by consent.

That exhausted the panel and court recessed until 11 o'clock this morning when the extra panel of 30 was to be present.

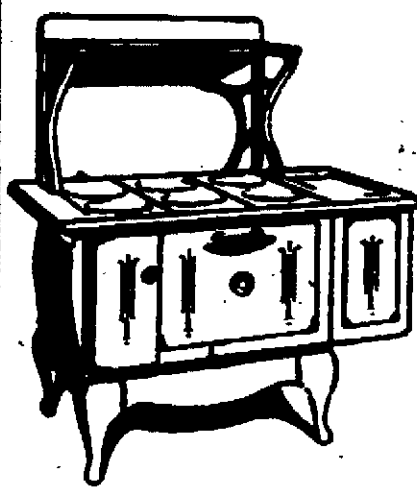

Diamond Drilling Meet

Perhaps the most tedious job in the world, especially if measured by visible results, is the drilling of holes in diamonds. A hole .0004 of an inch in diameter takes two weeks of continuous drilling 24 hours a day, says Pathfinder Magazine. During the drilling fresh diamond dust and oil are dropped upon the spot where the steel needle is attempting to bite into the gem. No machine being delicate enough, the work is all done by hand or foot power. The steel needle remains stationary, while the diamond to be drilled is mounted on a spindle and rotated rapidly.

These drilled diamonds are used as dies for drawing the tungsten wire filaments used in incandescent light bulbs. No hole has ever been bored fine enough for the filament of a three-watt lamp, so these must be etched in acid to reduce their diameter. The town of Trevelyan, France, has practically a monopoly on diamond drilling.

South African Diamond Field. The South African diamond fields were discovered near Kimberley in 1868, when a child picked up a stone weighing 21 1/2 carats, which was sold in the rough for $2,000.

INFLATION $$$$ —And Your DOLLAR

No. 2—Silver and Gold

There are many phases to inflation. This article, third of a series, discusses them, deals with silver in relation to it.

By J. H. BRACKETT
New York (P)—Silver, once man's principal money metal, has been cast by its advocates for an important role in both the world and the American inflationary drama.

How might silver be used to raise prices, the object of inflation? For many years before and for awhile after the more general adoption of the gold standard, the value of silver was set by law just as the value of gold is defined. When silver was abandoned by the major nations, its value declined because the demand for it as a currency support fell.

Silver Extensive Money Base
Even today the buying power of more than half the world's population—China, India, Mexico and South American countries—is dependent on silver. With the decline of the value of silver in gold standard countries, the trade of these nations with gold standard countries has been severely curtailed.

Silver advocates argue that it declined because it required more silver to buy from the gold standard countries the money with which to buy their products.

Thus any plan which raises the price of silver either by making it money on a larger scale or by holding it off the market is calculated to benefit these countries.

Linked To Debt Question
Tentative plans of the government suggest the possibility of allowing the debtors of the United States to pay part of their debts at least in silver. This would involve the purchase of huge amounts of silver and accordingly a rise in its price, of benefit to the trade of all gold standard countries with the silver standard countries.

Congressional advocates of silver have urged the use of silver as a basis for the money along with gold. This would have a theoretical effect similar to using it for debt pay-

Advocates of silver as a monetary base, along with gold, picture it as having the power to help gold in carrying world trade. The inflation angle appears in the accompanying increase in monetary units.

If the currency had a silver backing, the government would have to store silver just as it now stores gold. The removal of the silver from the market would increase its price even if a legal price were not set for it.

The proposal for the coinage of silver at 16-to-1 means that silver would be valued by law at one-sixteenth the value of gold, and that the government would buy all silver offered and sell silver on demand at that price. The phrase "16 to 1" is simply a definition of the proposed value of silver.

The further inflation effect of encouraging the use of silver as money would be in lowering the value of each unit of money by increasing the amount of money.

Tomorrow—Effects of Inflation.

Tips ON CONTRACT

Opening Lead Vital

By TOM O'NEIL

Many a difficult contract is made through the cleverness of the declarer when the correct choice of an opening lead would have defeated it. The leader often is in difficulties, especially if partner has not bid and a terse question by the declarer's side has given little information.

Especially against slam contracts some players are prone to lead a trump on the theory that all the adversaries' trumps will be lost any how and a course of action can be planned after the dummy is on view. The trump lead will defeat some contracts, especially when the auction has indicated that the contract is partnership. This is due to the fact that the declarer's side may not have all the trumps it needs for ruffing.

When the bidding has shown doubtful trumps in possession of the declarer the trump opening is likely to help him. Some players prefer a short suit lead in that case.

Study the hand below, first to see how a spade slam can be made by South and second to see how it could be defeated:

NORTH
♠QJ42
♥A53
♦KQ74
WEST
♠974
♥K863
♦Q72
EAST
♠98
♥J1066
♦Q2
♣K10953
SOUTH
♠AKQ763
♥K2
♦A5
♣AJ4

At first glance it might seem that South must lose a diamond and a club.

A little slam was made, however, by Mrs. Florence Fitch Osborn through a squeeze play. She opened the auction with a spade, West offered two diamonds, North said three spades, East passed and the Dealer bid six spades.

West opened his singleton trump, After another round of trumps the declarer led the ace of diamonds and then a low diamond.

West naturally took a trick with his king of diamonds. Then he led the club queen. South took the trick with the ace. Dummy was entered with a trump and on the queen of diamonds South discarded the club four. All the trumps were then played. Just before South led the last trump the situation was:

NORTH
♠A 5 3
♥D-10
WEST
♠Q 9 7
♥D-3
EAST
♠H-10 8
♥C-K
SOUTH
♠S-7
♥K-2
♣C-J

When South leads the last spade.

If West discards the diamond knave, the declarer takes the last three tricks with two hearts and the diamond ten. If West discards a heart, North throws the diamond ten and the squeeze affects East. If he sheds a heart, the declarer takes the last three tricks with hearts. If East parts with the club king, the club knave in the South hand makes. There is one way to beat the hand. It is not the lead of the glancing trump, or the lead of fourth best from the heart or diamond holdings in the West hand, but the lead of the deuce from the club triplet. South would take the trick with the ace and then when West was in with the king of diamonds the club queen would take the setting trick.

PONTIAC

The ECONOMY STRAIGHT EIGHT

$585 AND UP, F. O. B. PONTIAC

... brings qualities that are NEW to the low price field

Pontiac has brought entirely new standards of performance and economy to the low price field. Here's a car—a big Straight Eight—that does not even resemble the $585 car of yesterday!

Pontiac is big, and it rides and drives as only a big, well-balanced car can. The wheelbase is 115 inches, the curb weight (4-door Sedan) is 3265 pounds. New bodies by Fisher are roomier, more luxurious; seats are wider and deeper and more comfortable. New Fisher No Draft Ventilation, individually controlled, makes summer driving cool and pleasant.

Pontiac's modern Straight Eight incorporates the latest development in engine mounting—the five-point rubber cushioning that removes every trace of vibration! 77 horsepower: 78 real miles an hour. Yet Pontiac's modern Straight Eight engine is so efficient that it costs no more to operate than many smaller cars.

Come in for a demonstration. Then you'll agree that Pontiac is the outstanding car in the low price field.

REMODELING

Read!

With pride and pleasure we announce this great event. Workmen are ready to start at once to completely remodel our store, transforming it into one of the most beautiful Ready-to-Wear Stores in the Hudson Valley.

And to make room for them we must close out our entire present stock.

In spite of advancing prices on practically all lines of merchandise, we are offering values never before equaled in our business career. And remember every dollar's worth of merchandise in this store is our good reliable brands that we stand back of.

SALE

STARTS WEDNESDAY at 9 A. M.

You can't remain impartial to these unmatched values when you see the quality of merchandise and compare the prices. Think what it means—absolutely nothing reserved. Listed here are a few of the many bargains that await you. We advise an early selection.

A Word To You!

We are truly grateful for the loyal support of Kingston and countryside that has been ours for these many years.

As your valued patronage is what makes the success of this institution possible.

The progress of this store is more than physical, it's truer, higher than even this, we are building on a solid foundation of quality, service, honesty and fair play. Yes, we are building well for the people, their esteem, their confidence. We thank you for your loyal patronage.

Signed,
I. GOLDMAN.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 25 (AP).—Stocks and commodities passed today, as the dollar was steadier and traders began to wonder how far prospective inflation had already been discounted.

Heavy profit taking swept through the share list in the early dealings, depressing many issues 1 to 2 points, but the market stiffened somewhat by the end of the first hour, and losses were partially regained. Trading turned the duller in several days by midday.

Some of the electrical manufacturing and motor stocks firmed, with fractional gains appearing in General

NEW DESIGN WILL SPEED UP LINERS

Ships on Ways Obsolete Already, Says Authority.

London.—A new design threatens to make every ocean liner now afloat obsolete.

Secret tank tests of scale-model Atlantic liners built to the new specifications already have made a cruising speed of 40 knots while carrying from 5 to 6 per cent more cargo than the average ocean greyhound.

The new design is the work of Sir Joseph Lubbock, veteran marine architect, who says he believes to have obtained a perfect streamlining as is commercially practicable.

"I am sorry for anyone who has big ships under construction at the present," he said. "They will be out of date by the time they are finished."

The new Cunarder, designed for about thirty knots, is already old-fashioned.

"The essential innovation of my design," he explained, "is that whereas other designers have gone for streamlining at either end of the boat I have attacked the middle. The hull in the middle will be built in the form of an arc of a circle, but when the ships are in the water they will not be noticeably different from any others."

"What I did was streamline the middle. Tank tests at the National Physical laboratory have proved beyond question that my new vessel will have from 3 to 5 per cent increased carrying capacity with 15 per cent reduction in fuel costs. The design has already been approved by Lloyd's under the name of 'arc form'."

"I have just placed orders for three cargo ships of 8,000 tons carrying capacity to be built to my new design. I am now in direct negotiations for the construction of three more vessels of similar type."

"My knowledge of the shipping world tells me that they will be sold before they are launched."

Farmer Leaves Buried Treasure to Red Cross

Washington.—The Red Cross has just finished some buried treasure hunting, a Capt. Kidd.

The late R. F. Leigh, Arkansas farmer, willed half his estate to the Red Cross. The estate consisted of a pet cat, a pet dog and a mysterious map, which had inscribed on it the following directions:

"Stand in the front door of my house, look just to the right of the northwest of the corner post of the front porch. Go about 50 yards to a wall of rock. In it you will find two boxes with a few thousand dollars in currency."

Another set of directions said: "Go into the rock house in the garden. Over the door is some rock laid on the plate. Take them all down. There you will find some currency, gold and a box with old and queer coins in it."

The Red Cross followed the directions explicitly. The result? Six thousand dollars in cash.

Seaplane Always Will Be Fastest, Says Expert

St. Louis, Mo.—Land planes can never hope to attain the speed in the air that seaplanes can, according to Maj. James H. Doolittle, holder of the American seaplane and world's land plane speed records.

"Paradoxical as it may seem," Doolittle observed, "airplane speed in the air is governed by its landing speed. The points on a seaplane's landing gear," he said, "permit comparatively smooth contact with the water with a suction effect, compared with the rough bouncing of land-plane wheels on a ground surface, which, at extremely high speeds, has a tendency to turn the plane over."

The most powerful engine used in land-racing planes today is about 850 horse power, while a 2,800-horse-power engine was developed for the English seaplane which flew 406 miles per hour, the record. The land-plane record is 294 miles an hour.

Spelling of Name Aids Man in Locating Family

Mineral Wells, Texas.—Because it's an old family custom of the Wallises always to spell their surname the same, Ann Wallis of this city and her brother Zeke are reunited after forty years.

Ann, a cafe owner, has his name emblazoned across the front of his establishment.

Zeke, attracted by the sign, walked in and told the cafe owner he had heard that all who spelled their name as written on the window were related. Boyhood recollections coincided, so they telephoned a sister, Mrs. W. R. Fowler, also of this city, to join a reunion celebration.

More Risks in Bathing Than on Railroad Train

Utica, N. Y.—Taking a bath is far more dangerous than taking a train, according to Dr. G. C. Capron, surgeon in charge, Commercial Travelers' Accident Insurance company of America.

"When a man steps into a bath tub he is running a risk a thousand times greater than when he boards a train," the surgeon said, reading statistics from the company's reports, which show that accidents in the homes exceeded those in industry.

"Each tub should be built with the bottom and handrails with a rubber mat fastened securely to the tub."

Through a Woman's Eyes

THE ANSWER?

A WOMAN writes to me her opinion that the one great barrier to living in peace and harmony in a household that has two people running it, "even though the other person be your own mother"—is the inevitable feeling of competition.

"When your mother lives with you," she writes, "everything you do you have to do twice; once in doing it and once in explaining what you have done. That is true with the best of intentions on the part of both—and would lead to trouble if both women were angels. The trouble lies in the simple and natural fact of her interest and desire to help. But it's rough on the person who likes to do things once and be done with them."

"In my own case, I stopped giving the cook orders for dinner because I got tired of repeating to my mother everything I had arranged to do. It was simpler to let her give the orders. Another case in point is a recent case of grippe on the part of my little girl. Discovering her with a high fever with our doctor 'not expected back until evening' I took all the first aid measures which experience and a certain amount of training had taught me, and then, extremely tired, sat down to rest. Then the arrival of my mother, interested, concerned, eager to help—and the necessity of repeating every step I had taken, and reheating it. No fault of hers, of course. Just the fault of a partnership arrangement in the care of a home and family, where two people are vitally interested in the doing of one job. The two people love each other and want to be together. What's the answer, Jean Newton?"

Perhaps the answer lies in that little word "partnership" which brings to mind partners in business. When two men decide to run a business together it is usually because each brings to the business something that the other has not got. One may be the technical man, the other administrator; one may be the "outside" man while the other takes on the production end. But in every business partnership that I have been able to observe, each partner has had charge of a different phase of the business. They have shared the business but have not tried to share the same job.

They have shared the business but have not tried to share the same job.

In that thought may be part of the answer to this woman's problem. But when it comes to the children, and mother and grandmother loving and wanting to do for them, well it seems to me there is nothing in business or science of books or rules to insure freedom from occasional demands upon one's good nature, humor, forbearance. There's the old saying, "Nothing for nothing." And the relationship which gives as much as the one in question must be expected also to take its toll.

Mrs. L. E. DeVall visited Mrs. Ellen DeVall of Willow Monday afternoon.

Not Scriptural Quotation

The phrase, "He tempests the wind to the storm," is not, as some have supposed, a Scriptural quotation. It is a variation of the line from "Marie," by Laurence Sterne (1713-1768), "God tempests the wind to the storm." This may be traced back to a passage in "Judas Predestinate," by George Herbert (1833-1833). "To a close-shorn sheep God gives wind by measure." About 1894, however, Henri Estienne wrote in "Prometheus," "Dion measures to find a little tempest" (God tempests the wind to the storm).—Exchange.

Music Notes

In the course of a music lesson, given in the lower grades the teacher was emphasizing the form and value of music.

Miss E. was having the kiddies make forms of whole notes, half notes and "quarter" notes on their fingers. Little Mary, very much interested, said:

"Now H. how do you make a 10-cent note?"

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

RACE DRIVERS know tires. It is their business to know tires—it means life or death to them. These men know that a tire that holds all world's records on road and track must be a masterpiece of tire construction. They know it must have superior materials, must be scientifically designed, and must be made by master tire builders. That is why Firestone High Speed Tires are First Choice of race drivers and have been on the winning cars for 13 consecutive years in the 500-mile Indianapolis race—the most gruelling test for any tire.

Road speeds of today are the racing speeds of yesterday. Yet millions of motorists gamble with their lives by using inferior and thin, worn tires on their cars. Guard the safety of yourself and your family with the strongest, safest non-skid tires—made by master tire builders. Have your car completely equipped with a set of these Extra Value tires with the patented construction features of Gum-Dipping and Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies Under the Tread, at prices you may never be able to duplicate. Your dealer will give you a liberal allowance for your old tires.

Remember—Your Brakes Can Stop Your Wheels But Your Tires Must Stop Your Car!

INCREASED TIRE MILEAGE with the New Firestone SEALTYPE Leakproof TUBE

The inside of the tube is coated with a special compound which seals against air loss. Constant air pressure is maintained, which increases tire mileage and safety. The tube has a tapered rubber valve which seals the rim valve hole, keeping out moisture and dirt. The rubber valve base is an integral part of the valve stem, built and vulcanized into the tube.

MOTORISTS! Save money NOW! Firestone quality is higher than ever—prices are lower than ever. These tire "war" prices cannot last—equip your car at once and get these great values before prices go up!

There is no reduction in the quality of Firestone Tires. Tremendous savings are made possible by the fact that Firestone owns and controls every step in the building of Firestone Tires and distributes direct to dealers from factories and warehouses—a one-profit, low-expense system.

Firestone Tires are not made by cheap labor—to sell at a price. Every tire is built with the patented Firestone features of Gum-Dipping and Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies under a Scientifically Designed Safety Tread—to give you Added Safety and Longer Mileage. Only Firestone Has These Extra Values—THEY COST YOU NO MORE.

Take advantage of these great savings—you may never again have such an opportunity—Buy Firestone Tires with the confidence that they are built up to a quality—not down to a price.

GREATEST TIRE VALUES EVER OFFERED

HERE ARE the lines of tires—each with the name "Firestone" branded on the sidewall—that excel in quality, yet are priced as low as other standard brands or special brand tires made without the manufacturer's name and guarantee and offered for sale by department stores, oil companies and mail-order catalog houses.

Marelo In Best Shape For Shields Tonight

Johnny Marelo, local lightweight, is in the best shape of his career to meet his opponent, "The Kid," in the feature of the American Legion boxing contest at the Kingston tonight. That's what Johnny Carpio, his manager, said Sunday when Marelo was the fighting veteran on his preparation as far as boxing was concerned. Marelo, after he went through a light calisthenics drill and at the end looked ready to go 15 rounds.

Carpio said Marelo weighed 135 pounds, his best fighting weight, felt strong physically and had more than endurance enough to carry him through the six rounds he is scheduled to trade punches with Shields. The old lightweight, who now tips the beam at about 175 himself, summing up on Marelo's condition, picked him as a sure shot to beat the Windeford favorite. He added that the Glasgow prize if he whips Shields would like to meet Otis Paradise, Brooklyn expert, who has never lost a fight in Kingston. This match if it materializes would likely draw a bigger house than the Legion has ever had.

Word from Shields' camp is that he is ready to fight at his best. He has heard much of Marelo's success against the cream of the crop in the north—Rocco Meales, Joe Rovelli and Dave Grande—and hopes to get some matches around Albany himself through a victory over the boy who cleaned up the best capital city had to offer. That Shields is a dangerous opponent with a "hook" and the ability to take it, was exhibited in his bout with none other than Otis Paradise at the Elks Club last winter. He has to his credit a victory over Babe Lancaster, as has Marelo, indicating that they both are superior to the highly touted Clowen fighter from Middletown, who gave Paradise a real test here two weeks ago.

Bouts supporting the attractive feature will bring together some of the heaviest hitters around these parts as may be seen by scanning the following list of scrappies, most of whom are boys from this vicinity. Doc Studer, matchmaker, having arranged to give all local talent a chance in one big evening of ring warfare.

Semi-Final
Ambrose Jagers, Ellenville vs. Ralph Pignone, Poughkeepsie, 145 pounds, 6 rounds.

Special
Adam Unverzagt, Ellenville vs. George Boulding, Poughkeepsie, 150 pounds, 6 rounds.

Four Rounders
Joe Myers, Kingston vs. Sammy Popp, Poughkeepsie, 137 pounds.
Charlie Carpio, Kingston vs. Battling Levinsky, Poughkeepsie, 160 pounds.

Benny Segal, Ellenville, vs. Frankie Kouhal, Kingston, 160 pounds.
Jim Segal, Ellenville vs. Dixie Smith, East Kingston, 160 pounds. The first bout is scheduled for 8:30.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Dallas, Tex.—Jack Pollock, New York, outpointed Racehorse Rogers, Dallas, (15).

San Francisco—Nicky Walker, Rumson, N. J., defeated George Manley, Denver, (10).

GRAPHIC GOLF

WEIGHT ON HEELS AIDS PROPER STROKE

KEEP the weight back on the heels is the advice handed out by MacDonald Smith. This allows the body to turn just enough to prevent retarding the arm movement as the clubhead is swept down and through with the arms. The shoulders are held back instead of coming around to the left raising control and power. To offset too rigid legs in this position the knees should be bent slightly. A slight give here also keeps the golfer from stooping over too far. A fault of golfers in general is that they bend forward too far with the weight on the toes, a position in which it is difficult to pivot properly. One reason for this is that the ball is often too far away, necessitating leaning forward to reach it. With the body back on the heels, a better balance is maintained and the weight can be transferred smoothly. Be sure the weight is back on the heels at the start of the swing and that foot which bears the weight during different stages of the stroke should be firmly planted on the ground.

(By The Associated Press)

Jimmie Foxx, Athletics—Hit home run, three doubles and single, driving in seven runs, against Red Sox.

Al Todd, Phillies—His pinch single with bases loaded in 12th beat Braves.

Joe Kuhel, Senators—Drove in four runs against Yankees with home run, triple and single.

Carl Hubbell, Giants—Pitched four hit ball to shut out Dodgers.

Egon Hoggset, Tigers—Came in as relief pitcher and halted Browns' rally.

Mule Haas, White Sox—Collected double and single against Indians, drove in one run and scored three.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

On the basis of the early returns, the Chicago White Sox threaten to become a source of considerable embarrassment to the rest of the American League.

Thanks principally to the addition of such batsmen as Al Simmons and Mule Haas, the Pale Hose had won eight games out of eleven from the St. Louis Browns, Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers today, were in a virtual first-place tie with the New York Yankees and generally were getting much better pitching than any one had reason to anticipate. Lack of pitching, the experts said, would ruin Chicago's hopes of pushing into the first division. It still may but so far Lew Fonseca's moundmen have been more than adequate. They've allowed only 34 runs and 73 hits in 11 games while the Sox were scoring 52 runs on 101 hits.

They made it three in a row over the Indians yesterday, winning a 5-4 decision as Vic Frasier and Joe Hering outpitched Wes Ferrell. Frasier allowed only seven hits in the first eight innings but weakened in the ninth and Hering came in to stop an Indian rally one run short of a tie.

Yanks Edged Out.
Meanwhile the Yankees were suffering their second successive defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators, 11-10. Successive doubles by Goslin, Cronin and Schulte in the eighth gave the Senators the two runs they needed to win.

Jimmie Foxx went on a batting spree, clouted his third home run, three doubles and a single and led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 16-10 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Detroit made it three in succession over the Browns, 4-3, although St. Louis drove Carl Fischer to cover with two out in the ninth and had the tying and winning runs on base when Egon Hoggset retired the side.

Two in National

The National League program was restricted to two games, the New York Giants beating Brooklyn, 4-0, and the Phillies nosing out Boston's Braves, 6-5, in 12 innings.

National League
Batting—Frederick, Dodgers, .333; Burrell and Lee, Phillies, .400.
Runs—P. Waner, Pirates, 7; Traynor and Lindstrom, Pirates, and Bottomley, Reds, 6.

Runs batted in—Klein, Phillies, and Traynor, Pirates, 8.
Hits—Phillie, Phillies, 15; Traynor, Pirates, 13.

Doubles—Traynor, Pirates, and Lee, Phillies, 4.
Triples—Davis, Giants; Bottomley, Reds; and P. Waner, Pirates, 2.

Home runs—Bottomley, Reds, 2; (nine players with one each).
Stolen bases—Flowers, Dodgers, 3; (fourteen players with one each).

Four hits in winning his 2nd successive shutout while the Giants made good use of the eight hits they made off Joe Shauts. Hubbell has pitched 30 innings this season and allowed only one run.

Al Todd's pinch single in the 12th with the bases filled was the blow that gave the Phillies a thrilling victory over the Braves. Chuck Klein hit his first home run of the season in the fifth and also contributed a double and single.

Dazzling Lot Of Pitching Marks Start Of Campaign

Carl Hubbell isn't the only pitcher the Giants have. It's just that Manager Bill Terry is saving the others until he needs them. The southpaw hurled 20-2 in five days and gave up one run.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Gene Sarazen tilted a glass of foaming 2.2 per cent beer, admired the "collar," placed his approval upon the name and began:

"The trouble with most golfers is that professionals have not been teaching them the proper fundamentals."

"For a long time, stress has been put on getting the body into the swing. What's the result? You see over half of the fellows up on the tee or along the fairway, swaying and heaving at the ball. They develop a choppy, awkward style and can't seem to lose it."

"They should be taught to use their hands and arms more; to get a smooth, easy, natural swing that will not have too much 'body' in it. If you have noticed the big money-winning professionals, you know what I mean. You don't see them going through any contortions before making a shot. They emphasize the hands. They get a punch in their shots."

Only Five Real Stars!

"I don't think there are really any more than five great players in the game, anyway," continued the world champion, who seemed to be in an analytical mood and to like it.

"Of course I include Bob Jones, because he is still the greatest of them all, in or out of competition, but I would restrict the list otherwise to Archie Compston and Percy Alliss of England, Walter Hagen and Olin Dutra of the old U. S. A."

"You say I'm too modest? All right, put Sarazen in and make it six. I'd probably be a little tough for some of them at that."

"As for the rest, there are no really great or consistent performers. They eat up some of the winter courses but where are they in the championships, when the going gets tough?"

"One tournament victory seems to go to the heads of the younger fellows. The best young prospect, and the only really good one I have seen in a long time is Henry Picard of the Charleston Country Club. He has a fine swing and good competitive temperament. He was runner-up to Hagen in the Charleston Open, shooting a 69 on his final round, and he was fifth in the North and South Open. Keep your eye on him."

Gloomy Over Ryder Cup
The failure of the P. G. A. to name Bill Burke for the Ryder Cup team, in Sarazen's opinion, won't help the chances of our boys beating the British in the matches abroad this June.

"We will have an inexperienced team, with Hagen and myself the only former open champions, and we will not have time enough to practice before the matches on the other side," said Gene. "Don't forget, also, that our best Ryder Cup squad, in 1929, took a lacing over there."

Edith Wilson of the Normal School
Edith Wilson of the Normal School faculty, was guests of Miss Margaret H. Garrard, Montauk Highway, Bellport, during the Easter recess.

The members of the Dutch Gull were entertained at a tea by the Eendracht Club in the social room, the Normal School on Monday afternoon, April 24.

The sixty-fourth season is to open at Lake Mohonk on May 25. The house will remain open until late October.

On Easter Sunday morning in Andrew's Episcopal Church decorations were of ferns, lilies, peonies and snapdragons. The Rev. Wilbur F. Brown preached, his topic being "The Gate of Heaven." Per Berago assisted with his violin.

Mrs. Webb Kniffen returned home on Saturday, April 22, after spending several days in Newburgh.

At Colonial Hall for the coming week, the following pictures will be shown: Today and Wednesday "The Woman Accused." Saturday "The Woman Accused." Sunday "The Woman Accused."

The Rev. Robert L. Maunterstock, the Misses Frances, Joyce, Maunterstock, Elaine, Kniffen and Bernice DuBois attended an officers' coaching conference held in St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church in Newburgh on Tuesday evening April 18. The conference was sponsored by the cabinet of the Local Union, Epworth League.

Miss Alice Felter and Mr. and Mrs. DuBois Grimm of Modena visited relatives in town on Sunday.

Mrs. Sadie Coddington and mother, Mrs. Mary Dill, have been entertaining Mrs. Mary Snyder of Rosendale at their home on Plattkill avenue.

Mrs. Howard Crispell entertained friends at bridge recently at her home on Church street.

Edward Gulnac spent the past week-end with relatives in Hyde Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Miner, who have been spending several months in Poughkeepsie, have returned to New Paltz.

Jacob Ros was a recent guest of Horatio Wilson in Plinarch.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker are the parents of a daughter born on Easter Sunday, April 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Sprague entertained Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smiley of Liard on Thursday evening at their home on Rural avenue.

Raymond M. Hasbrouck and family enjoyed a call from DeWitt J. Morrison of Irvington on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Morrison was formerly of New Paltz.

Horace Elliott and family entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thorpe and family of Clintondale on Sunday.

Miss Margaret McLaughlin of the Normal is cadet teaching at the W. W. Smith School in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Ruth Fraleigh has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Fraleigh, in Red Hook.

Mrs. H. Gregory recently visited with Mrs. Comstock of Troy, who she was spending a few days in Clintondale.

I. C. Barnes was a business caller in Ardenia on Wednesday.

LeFevre-Bellville

New Paltz, April 25.—Albert A. LeFevre, Jr., son of Albert LeFevre, of this place and Anne Kate deMott, Bellville, of Mobile, Alabama, were married in the Presbyterian Church in Alabama on April 6. Mr. LeFevre is a graduate of the New York Military Academy at Cornwall.

Terrilliger-Cooklin

New Paltz, April 25.—Mrs. Jane Cooklin of New Paltz and Charles Terrilliger of Lloyd were married on Easter Sunday at the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church in Newburgh. The pastor, the Rev. J. Robert Zimmerman, who was a former pastor of the bride, was the officiating minister. The bride wore a navy blue ensemble and a corsage of pink and white roses. Mrs. William O'Brien of Brooklyn, a sister, was bridesmaid and was attired in a grey ensemble with a corsage of pink roses. The couple will make their home in Lloyd.

Henniger-Miller

Miss Elizabeth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller of Saugerties, became the bride of Ewald Henniger of Katrine Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Church in Saugerties. The Rev. John C. Eason, pastor, performed the ceremony. Attendants were Mrs. Ralph Hommel of Katrine, a sister of the bridegroom, and Casper Miller, a brother of the bride. The couple are honeymooning in Washington, D. C. They will reside on O'Neill street, Kingston. Mr. Henniger is an employee of the New York Central Railroad.

Birthday Surprises

Port Ewen, April 25.—A number of friends tendered a birthday surprise to Josephine McKenzle at her home on Schryver street Saturday evening in honor of her 12th birthday. Birthday games were played and much enjoyed, after which supper was served. The table decorations were blue, pink and green. The little hostess received many pretty gifts and best wishes for many more happy birthdays. Among those present were: Eleanor Carney, Anna Clark, Grace Little, Shirley Fowler, Wilma Schwegel, Marie O'Donnell, Betty Fredericks, Geraldine Fredericks, Shirley Bonner, Jessie Torrens, Elma Doyle, Gloria Black, Frank Humphrey, Betty Schwegel, and Josephine McKenzle.

Farewell Party

Bloomington, April 24.—On Friday evening, April 21, a farewell party in honor of William and Henry Werker was given by Gordon Relyea. A dinner was served by Mrs. A. D. Relyea at 6 o'clock and later in the evening they were agreeably surprised when all of the boys and girls arrived. Games and dancing were enjoyed by all. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mrs. A. D. Relyea, Mrs. A. Werker, Mr. and Mrs. R. LeFevre, Mrs. Neal Hotelling, Gordon Relyea, Edith DeWitt, Quentin Swanson, Audrey LeFevre, William and Henry Werker, Ruth Hotelling, Raymond LeFevre, Margaret Randegger, Kenneth Randegger, Evelyn Fagher, Donald Krom, Virginia Markle, Evelyn Newell and Helen Wesp.

Their Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Michael B. Coffey of 130 Tremper avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday. They were married in Poughkeepsie on April 22, 1882. The golden anniversary was celebrated with a dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel and following the dinner the happy couple and guests returned to the family home where a family gathering was held. Mr. and Mrs. Coffey were presented with many beautiful gifts in memory of the occasion. Among those who attended the celebration and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Coffey of Long Branch, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Coffey and son, Joseph, of Dallas, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Coffey of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Coffey of Long Island, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Coffey of Syracuse, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coffey of Kingston, Hubert Coffey of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McNamara of Eddyville, Miss Adeline McNamara of Eddyville, Mr. and Mrs. William McNamara of Eddyville, Charles McNamara of New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McNamara of Middletown, Thomas McNamara of Middletown, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hession of Newark, N. J., Miss Ollie Ryan of Kingston, and Miss Mamie Gaffney of this city.

Woodrow Wilson Brought Up in Religious Family

Woodrow Wilson was "a conservative orthodox Presbyterian." Son of Rev. Joseph W. Wilson, it is said that his election to the presidency was predicted for him by his parent. The boy was born and reared in a parsonage. His first teacher was his mother, Janet or Jessie Woodrow, daughter and grand-daughter of Presbyterian clergymen. Later he went to school to his father, then to Davidson college and Princeton university. Deciding upon teaching as his life work, he lectured after graduation at Bryn Mawr, Wesleyan and Princeton. He became president of his alma mater in 1902, the first layman ever to hold that position. When at last he was elected to the highest office in the gift of the American people he found his faith a necessity; without it, he said, he could not go on. "I do not understand how any man can approach the discharge of the duties of life," he confessed, "without faith in the Lord Jesus Christ."

Wilson while President worshiped at the Central Presbyterian church and on occasion attended the New York Avenue, First and Eastern Presbyterian churches. He became a close friend of the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, in the last months of his life, and when he died was entombed at Washington Cathedral. Thousands annually make a pilgrimage to the Bethlehem chapel where he rests, a crusader with his cross.

Pock-Marked Earth

Judging from the discoveries of recent years, it now seems probable that scores, if not hundreds, of craterlike depressions in the earth's surface, capable of being more or less produced by meteor-falls, exist throughout the world and will be brought to light by future explorations—especially by aerial photography, which was responsible for the discoveries recently reported to the American Academy for the Advancement of Science. They have been discovered in the southern United States a large group of depressions in the ground bearing evidence of having been caused by the impact of meteorites and similar depressions have been found in the Carolinas.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by WILL L. LINDHORST

PICKING UP TWENTY CARDS WITH THE PALM OF YOUR HAND

Before doing this trick you must make a tiny flap and paste it on the back of a card, which is known as the key card. Make the flap by cutting a small piece from the back of another card, bending it in half, and pasting one half of this on the back of the key card, as shown in the above drawing. When this card is laid on the table keep your finger pressed on the flap so it will not be noticed. When you are ready to do the trick take a dozen or more cards and place them around and on top of the key card, so that each one slightly overlaps the center card. Then press your hand flat on top of the cards, and as you do so raise the flap on the center card and grasp it between the fingers of your hand. As the flap is very small, it will not be noticed between the fingers, and it will be easy for you to lift the cards from the table with the center card for support. It appears to the audience that there may be some magnetic force between the cards and your hand that does the trick.

'This Is The Life!' Say Forest Campers

Jobless Recruits Fall In Eagerly To Work For Uncle Sam

How do the men take to the work in the conservation camps set up under the administration's program for rehabilitation of the unemployed? What are their living conditions, what do they eat? To answer these and other questions, Sigrid Aron, Associated Press staff writer, spent a day at Camp Roosevelt, near Lacey, Va. This article tells what she saw and heard.

By SIGRID ARON.

Camp Roosevelt, Lacey, Va. (AP)—The ring of the ax through mountains wilderness is sweet music to the 200 young men faced with bewing out a home here in the first camp set up under the president's conservation plan.

As each pine crashes the men are closer to a home on the shaggy side of Mammoth mountain, seven miles west of Lacey.

From Cities and Farms.

They have gathered from cities and farms where doors are closed against the unemployed; where a cup of coffee is hard to "rustle," and a man's strength begins to slip.

In a day they dropped from modern civilization to the life that faced Daniel Boone and his kind. Everything had to be done at once; the forest floor was cleared for the camp; tents and a kitchen were set up; kindling chopped.

It took work, but it is done with pride, boyish boasting, grins and snatches of song that float off with camp-fire smoke to the dark humps of the Blue Ridge across the valley.

"Say this is the life!" exclaims a yellow-haired boy, Frank Marshall, of Maryland.

"Of course, it doesn't look much now," and he waves his hand to muddy "company streets" and a chill, gray sky, "but give us a little time."

He stopped to grin as two boys trotted by with pine boughs in their arms. "There goes a floor," he explained.

He led the way proudly to the square army tent that is his "home" with five other young men. Army cots stood around the edge. Bar racks bags filled with clothes stood in an orderly pile in one corner.

In the center a small, iron, cone-shaped stove gave off warmth. A "buddy" was scraping woodland mud from his boots. Another was writing home to mother, using the side of a crate for a desk. An improvised rack hung over the stove held drying towels and wash-cloths.

Routine Is Simple.

"The routine is purposely simple," says Capt. Leo Donovan, the world war veteran, taken from Ft. Washington to launch this experiment.

"We have avoided military discipline. We hardly need it. The men are so eager to work."

The day's program includes: 6 a. m. rising bugle; 8 a. m.

BREAKFAST: Boiled eggs, fried potatoes, jam, coffee, butter and bread.

DINNER: Beef loaf and ham.

tion. The Wallersteins have a summer home near the corner in Shokan. The rough pavement at the Jones place in Stony Hollow has been repaired, much to the relief of motorists from all points on Route 23.

Miss Virginia Cudney of Pine Hill was a guest last Saturday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Fred Adsit.

Edward Herschenroeder, of New York city spent Sunday at his home on the mountain road.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leyder and family attended services in St. Peter's Church in Kingston Sunday morning.

Henry Wells and W. Bodie have employment in Woodstock.

A local event of April 25, 1861, was the departure of the Olive and Shandaken company of the 20th Regiment from Shokan for Kingston as the first step in their journey to Washington.

Following a military parade here, the soldiers, under command of Capt. Davis Winne of the Corner, went down the Plank Road, stopping all night at P. C. Bonesteel's, J. C. Vandermarck's and Vandermarck's, finishing the first leg of their trip on the 26th. On the 28th, having encamped in Kingston amidst scenes of the greatest excitement, the regiment, with Col. George W. Pratt in charge, left for the national capital.

TABASCO.

Clara Margaret Young, who is teaching the Branch school in Frost Valley, spent the week-end with friends in this vicinity.

Several from here attended the play "And Mary Did" at the K. P. Hall in Kerhonkson on Saturday evening for the benefit of the Reformed Church.

Local friends of Marvita Krom hope that he will soon be on the gain. He is now in the Kingston Hospital.

Zachariah Oubourne has received a shipment of a thousand baby chicks.

Mrs. Blanche Wilkoff of Accord spent Easter with her brother and sister, Mary and Myron Terwilliger. An entertainment will be given by local Cherry Town talent in the Reformed Church in Cherry Town. Supper will be served after the entertainment.

Work was started on the town roads in the town of Otis on Monday.

Life in the forestry camp that the government has set up near Lacey, Va., is keyed to a busy routine, indicated by the four pictures above. It's all part of Uncle Sam's plan to aid the unemployed and at the same time further conservation projects.
